BOARD TO HAVE NEW OUARTERS

The King Street Nursery to Be Remodeled.

Agricultural Board Will Meet There in Future.

Office, Meeting and Laboratory Divisions Are to Be Provided.

That the Board of Agriculture and Forestry created by the Legislature of 1903, to supersede the old single Commissionership of Agriculture, means to be a constantly effective force in the development of the natural resources of the Territory has already been made publicly apparent by the promptitude with which that body has organized a skilled working staff. It has crossed two continents and two oceans to obtain the services of scientific specialists for assistance to the two able entomologists who had already proved their value to the government.

Now the Board is going to have its own headquarters, both for meetings and for laboratory and quarantine operations, at the long established horticultural nursery in town. Architect Pinkham is working on plans for the remodeling of the old nursery building in King street. A fumigating house is already under construction on the grounds, where the fumigation of imported plants will be scientifically con-

The main pavilion is to be subdivided into office rooms and will probably be improved by the construction of a ceiland the laying of concrete floors.

There will be rooms for the forestry division. A large apartment will be fitted up for the general offices, laboratory and meeting place for the Commissioners. Another one will be the receiving room for inspection of plants. A general workroom will also be provided.

Any objection on the ground of convenience of access that might formerly have been entered to this location of headquarters is obvinted now by the running of the electric cars on King

ADVERTISING HAS STARTED

A cablegram was received yesterday noon by the Hawaii Promotion Committee from their New York agents stating that "advertising had commenced." This is interpreted by Secretary Boyd to mean that some of the weeklies have already received their matter and that the October monthlies will contain advertisements for Hawaii. The committee meets this afternoon to discuss the 200,000 edition folder and other general matters.

CLEANED OUT THE MAGOON BLOCK

Four marines from the transport Thomas tried to clean out thet Magoon block in Kakaako yesterday afternoon and succeeded quite well. The four men attacked a Japanese and stripped him of everything he had, then tried to raid the remainder of the storekeepers in the block. The marines disappeared before the police arrived, taking a carriage to the transport and losing themselves in the crowd.

A BAND OF BULGARIAN REVOLUTIONARIES.

The insurgents who are causing the disturbances in the Balkans are formed into bands, practically independent of one another, and composed of men who have left their homes and organized in the mountains. From their camps in the different districts they are descending on their enemies the Turks, burning villages and taking the officials captive.

HOME RULERS PICK CONVENTION DATE

The Home Rule Executive Committee held a meeting yesterday morning and fixed the date for the county convention as September 21st. The former date was September 30th but the Home Rulers want to make their nominations as soon as possible after the Republican convention, so the convention date was changed.

R. W. Wilcox presided at the meeting in the absence of Senator Kalauokalani who has been ill since his return from Maul.

H. Huka, who was one of the delegates elected to the Republican convention from Kalihi, had his name stricken from the rolls and as a member of the committee. Huka was present and told the committee that at heart he was still a Home Ruler. though his body was Republican. The excuse was not accepted and he was expelled. J. A. Davis of Koolau was elected a member of the committee. He was said to have been a Republican formerly.

It was unfair, Mr. Davis sets forth, that he should have been tried in the absence of the manager of the O. R. & L. Co., with whom he made the bargain whereby John K. Sumner got $10,000 more than the price he wanted for the land. It was serious error he claims for the court to have rejected evidence as to what became of the $46,025 in the First ner before the trial.

Provinces which were easily subdued in the early days broke out had his affidavit amended to make 1858 again with a wildfire of discontent. These uprisings varied in importance from the movements of self-styled Gen. San Miguel to what are now called "Pulajans."

San Miguel was a cross between an old-fashioned highway robber San Miguel was a cross between an old-fashioned highway robber statements in proof of the claim that and marauder and a crafty politician. He and several subordinates did what they could to raise another Filipino republic, and it is asserted that they were helped in many ways by the Union Democratica Obrera, or the Democratic Labor Union, which must not be confused with any organization of similar title in the States, either in names or meaning. "Democratic" and "labor," when you put them into Spanish, lose a great deal of their significance. But San Miguel was put down and killed and his assistants were chased all over the face of Luzon by combined forces National bank when he last saw Sum- of Filipino scouts and constabulary, led by American officers.

In the Visayas the trouble in almost every case rose out of the did as much skilled work as associate census. Of course, it was combined with other motives and urged counsel, the latter "received six thous- along by crafty trouble-makers. Besides, it must be remembered that in these islands there must pass years and years of fighting and worry and confusion before there is any great amount of civilization instilled

> But altogether the census was most to blame. Imagine the experience of enumerators in the most ignorant foreign settlements of the States, then multiply it by any quantity you please to make it equal to the results of a census among a people who never were enumerated before in that manner of house-to-house visitation.

All over the Visayas the people refused to answer the questions, ran away into the mountains, and then when the insular police came after them formed into bands, put a red stripe around their shirts and bloomed out as a new kind of trouble for the Government in a land The other affidavit presents that Mr. where the different kinds of trouble are as numerous and as varied as Davis, on account of presiding in the the diseases and the products of field and forest.

And the native enumerators did not improve matters. They were chosen for their ability to read and write Spanish, without much thought Justice Perry was blased and preju- for the towns of their residence, and an educated Filipino in a place of authority among ignorant people cannot be beaten anywhere in the world

In one barrio of Camiguin the people declared that the census was to find out how many boys and girls there were over 18 in each house-He further goes into the ques- hold. And then, having found out, the Americans were going to take ing the morning that she was to sail, next trip of the big freighter will not one boy and one girl from each house that had more than two children. Naturally trouble followed.

In Catarman the people objected to the putting up of notices which were not to be taken down until June 1 under penalty of fine and imprisonment. The enumerators tried their best, and then the Governor sent over some constabulary, which body was immediately attacked and cut up somewhat.

At last there arrived a company of scouts, and 300 "Pulajans," armed with bolos, attacked fifty scouts, armed with Springfields, and days, with full pardon for all their deeds. But there was a change of LATEST "FRIEND" the trouble was soon over. Catarman became very good in short order and now is praying to have the scouts taken away.

And the trouble is of old standing and will serve as an example of the way the Spanish rule went on here. The people of that town always objected to taxes and the like, and the Government left the matter in the idea of self-government means merely freedom from taxes, and in the hands of the parish priest, who tried to arrange it.

Once in a while a man would be taken and punished by a short imprisonment, and the next year it all began over again. The Americans stand such foolishness for a while and then teach the people a lesson that sticks for a considerable time. And, moreover, the Americans, by the much-abused policy of establishing civil government with in fulfilling their duties that in many instances they are afraid for themdanger.

A REJUVENATED CONSPIRACY.

As the time for changing Governors approaches, the Bulletin resumes its critical attitude towards the correspondence of the Associated Press and of the coast newspapers. The public will remember how, when the ill-starred Sewall was running for Gov-ernor, he and the Bulletin made a really desperate effort, for them, to get hold of the facilities of news correspondence. They especially wanted to control the Associated Press in Sewall's ents, and Sewall went to San Francisco to make personal efforts to have kets. those gentlemen supplanted by stipendiaries of his own who, even if they could not write intelligently, would at least advertise Sewall in their halting way and defame his rivals.

PACIFIC LUMBER TRADE.

The lumber markets of the Orient and the share which the United States is likely to have in supplying them, is the subject just now of some attention by the Department of Commerce and Labor through its Bureau of Statis-tics. The Bureau recently received and published reports of American ISSUED TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS. consuls in the Orient which announced the arrival of the first cargo of tumber in the Chinese market by a Russian vessel from Vladivostok. This fact opens the question of future competition for the Oriental market between the American lumber interests on the Pacific Coast, on the one hand, and that of the Russians in Siberia and on the Yalu river, on the other. In both cases enormous resources are awaiting development. The American industry of the Pacific coast has the advantage of organization on a large scale and of mechanical equipment unequalled by that of any other field in the world. This is evidenced by the rate of annual production. Unoffiof lumber and shingles of the three Pacific States at 4,600,000,000 feet, of which California supplies 860,000,000 feet; Oregon 740,000,000 feet, and Washington 2,300,000,000 feet. PULITZER SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM

One of the common remarks in the press about Mr. Pulitzer's $2,000,000 school of journalism, is that the proper place to make newspaper men is in a newspaper office. This kind of postulate ofice had a much wider application than it finds now. Time was schools; the place to make an attorney was in a law office where a young man would spend his time copying documents, trying small cases and mingling in the hurly-burk of the courts. But in due course the law schools won their way into high professional respect. Doctors, too, thought the office student would turn out better than the youth who took a medical course, but there are few of that class of doctors to think so any more. It is not so long ago that circuit-riders, veteran exhorters at camp meetings, sneered nt the term in theology; but where is the influential pulpit that is now in-habited by the preacher whose only "larnin" was picked up on the road? Only in journalism, which should be the most progressive of callings, does the musty old prejudice against a special school or collegiate course for newspaper-writers prevail. Far be it from us to decry the value of the training a young man gets in a newspaper office. True journalists are made there. But the point is that a newspaper office has other duties than to educate boys and girls in the details of its business. It ought not to be a kindergarten or a common school. When it is so the readers of the paper upon which the tyros do their practice work, have to take the evil consequences in bad writing-which a driven editor often has no time to re-pair-in poor thinking, in damaging inaccuracies. Every newspaper owes its readers the best work of trained men; it should never permit itself to give them the crude product of apprentices; yet almost every smaller newspaper is forced to teach some of its staff the rudiments of their trade because it has no corps of graduates of schools of journalism to draw upon. Law, theology, medicine, teaching, the army and navy, all the intellectual vocations, own schools of learning to recruit from: journalism, which is vastly in need of special knowledge has

What is this special knowledge? Political history, sociology, laws of libel, the doctrine of responsibility, the history of journalism, business forms and principles, the organization and administration of newspaper offices, pure English, news values, the preparation of "copy," typewriting and the like may be set down as part of it. These things may be learned in schools. Why Many of them appear in colle giate courses now; and it is a fact that the most famous journalists of the time spent the years in studying such things which other young men passed wholly in newspaper offices learning to be reporters all their lives and underlings of the men who were college bred.

Of course the office experience must be had by the beginner with the press as with the law; but it may be taken as the sum of common experience that the youth who goes to the office prepared by competent teachers will learn more there in two years than the officebred youth has learned in his whole apprenticeship and will, moreover, be able to use what he has learned more There is no question about Horace Greeley, the greatest of te office-bred journalists insisted upon aving young college graduates about in the editorial positions of the He did not turn to prentice hands for help; instead he rev about him men like Charles A. CAMPAIGN FUNDS WANTED.

The people of Honolulu will make mistake if they do not give generously to the support of the Mosquito commitfrom accumulated testimony, that a mosquito-ridden place can be so made over, at no great expense, as to nearly the insect pest, promote eradicate health and increase public comfort. We have lately collected and printed facts in point gathered from many sources, notably the manazines and scientific periodicals. Elsewhere in this issue is an account of the effective Elsewhere in measures taken in the Soudanese swamp country to get rid of mosquitoes, measures which, though they include the filling of low ground, which is impracticable here, are easy enough to match, in their remedial value, by a free use of petfoleum and small fish.

Money is needed for a variety of uses, as a sanitary campaign, involving the purchase and use of oil, etcetcannot be carried on without it The $55 per month already pledged is but a bagatelle. The sum ought to be multiplied by ten. As for the money it will begin to earn compound interest in hard cash, as soon as word goes abroad that mosquitoes and Honolulu have parted company.

BOUNTY NOT THE THING.

There is renewed talk about asking Congress to grant a bounty on coffee. The need of public aid for this industry, both here and in Porto Rico is plain, but the Advertiser does not with many of its friends in the belief that a bounty would answer the

This journal, much as it desires to see small farming, es pecially coffee farming, prosper, could not advise any one to invest money in coffee-growing enterprises the returns from which would depend on the willingness of Congress to keep on paying a bonus. Investments should rest on a safer foundation than that.

Tariff changes have more of permanercy. The wise thing to do, in our opinion, would be to ask Congress to exclude all low-grade coffees from the list of imports just as is now done with low-grade teas. If Congress would do that, then Hawaiian highgrade coffee would find a ready and lucrative market and its culture would spread accordingly. In course of time successful appeal might be made for general protection.

EASY LAND CLEARING.

whom is slowly increasing, need to apply mere medern methods than plowing and hand-plucking. The newest way of clearing land of weeds-and burrowing insects as well thus described in that ancient and admirable weekly paper, the Saturday Evening Post:

The boiling water and stea thus injected into the soil will kill every form of plant and insect life. In the experiments conducted under Federal auspices the results have amazing, even to those who hoped the most from them. The hardy seed of the Russian thistle (Salsola kali tragus) -a weed which, although not introduced into the United States until 1873, has spread to nearly every State in the Union and become such a menace to agriculture that legislatures and interstate congresses have convened to plan campaigns against it-is destroyed instantly by the new process. Even the perennial roots of such weeds as the horse-nettle, or sand-briar, cannot withstand this flood of steam.

"We find everything in the soil-rhizomes of the most noxious grasses, the arrived. hardiest weed seeds, all forms of fungi, and both adult and larval forms of insect life-totally destroyed by our new system of treatment," said one of the Government scientists. In connection with the experiments an interesting discovery has been made by the Bureau of Chemistry; that the soil treated by the steam process is days after his arrival, considerably enriched, the explanation Lord & Relser's combeing that the animal and vegetable Superintendent of Public Works for life destroyed is converted into nitro- the bitumen payement of the Oceanic genous and other fertilizing elements.

LAWYERS ARE SCARCE

Business Blocked by Its Own Excess.

There were not enough lawyers to go around yesterday morning, hence the pretty schedule of cases arranged to come up for trial in their order before Judge De Bolt was not touched. The attorneys were engaged elsewhere or, upon one side or the other, were unprepared. Almost despairingly the court asked for any case in which disengaged counsel were ready and after several disappointments one was announced wherein the situation was simplified from the fact that one of the parties was absent without any counsel to represent him.

ONE CASE TRIED.

Patrick H. Burnette vs. P. E. R. Strauch was tried before Judge De Bolt and a verdict returned for plaintiff. Geo. A. Davis appeared for plaintiff, while there was no appearance of or for defendant. The suit was for $2282.25, due on a promissory note for $2582 matured September 16, 1899, the stated interest being two and a half per cent a month. Only six per cent interest was claimed in the complaint. The jury consisted of Owen J. Holt, B. Guerrero, C. B. Dwight, E. C. Holstein, M. W. Parkhurst, I. Adams, J. Kuaana, E. E. Mossman, G. C. Potter, G. H. Karratti, W. J. Baird and P. M. Lucas. The verdict was for the amount claimed, the interest added making a total of $2842.60.

In the case of Hoffschlaeger Co., Ltd., vs. Kealalaina Apaka et al., Judge De Bolt awarded judgment for plaintiff in the sum of $404.18 and in-Choy Look See vs. Scottish Union and National Insurance Co. was discontinued before Judge De Bolt.

No jury trial could be arranged in the First Judge's court for the afternoon session, which therefore adjourned early.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE.

Judge De Bolt has taken assignment of the following criminal cases to be heard in their order this morning forward: Charles Kammer, assault and battery: Matsuda, assault and battery: Miamoto, vagrancy: Goto, selling liquor, and Hasamoto, selling liquor.

Next Monday at 9 a, m. Judge De Bolt will call, to set for trial, all odd numbers in the calendar from 157 to 195, both inclusive.

CRIMINAL BUSINESS.

The alleged stolen property consisted of cuts of pork from the Metropolitan market, for the stealing of which Ah Chin was formerly convicted of larceny.

Joe Kekipi, a husky native, was put on trial before Judge Gear for assault and battery. Frank W. HOME BUILT YACHTS IN COMPETITION

Yachting on Regatta Day will be given a new impetus by racing between yachts built in Honolulu. The "Deflance," built by Walker Brothers on original lines, has so far outstripped all competitors among the smaller boats that Sorenson and Lyle are building a crackerjack with the express purpose of beating the Walker boat. Several men are at work on the Sorenson craft which will be finished early next week

The Defiance, which has bilge centerboards, has proven a phenomenon for speed, having beaten the La Paloma on a ten-mile run and come within a few minutes of the Gladys on the wind. ITS ENEMY

Mexican Industry Attacked by Borer.

R. L. C. Perkins, government entomologist, strongly deprecates the sending away for propagations of pineapples, sisals, vanilla or other vegetables that have already attained successful lodgment in the Territory, on the ground that the danger of importing insects harmful to the various industries is thereby greatly enhanced.

"Take for instance the sisal," says Mr. Perkins, "folks here interested in the industry have sent and are sending for varieties grown in Mexico. In that country the sisal plant is affected by a borer that, despite the strong acids of the plant, seems to flourish. Now the insects that in Mexico prey upon these borers and to a certain extent, keep down their depredations, cannot be imported into this Territory owing to the law that opens and examines all packages and throws out all such attempted importation into United States territory. Some day we may be able to make mutual arrangements with the scientific bureaux of Mexico and other countries whereby such packages, properly certified to and addressed may be sent through, but at present we are only able to ship the disease and not the remedy.

"The sisal borer is not, as proven at present, here, but in the shape of the akin to the well known grub of the ago palm, there are certain borers that bear a strong resemblance to the sisal would never achieve the full fruits of pest and which may yet turn out dangerous to that industry. At present we have nothing to fight them with.

"Now we have here good sturdy profitable varieties of the sisal plant, and excellent pineapples. S. E. Damon on this island and others elsewhere in the Territory, have first class speciflourishing. It would greatly minimize total extinction or interference with new and old buildings, 13. ertain proposed industries, if planters intending to propagate certain species, would secure cuttings from plants aleady raised at home and free from parasites that may paralyze their in-tance it is extremely difficult to differentiate between dangerous growths and those which have naturally sprung up during the voyage. With a certain plant once introduced, with due care aken in the first place to secure good varieties, safety will be found in propagation from these varieties rather than in seeking afield for other types which are liable to prove far more harmful han otherwise.

"Professor Koebele is now in Ohio, studying the harmful insects in that State. He is undoubtedly one of the greatest specialists entomology has produced and his successor will be hard to find. From a scientist's point of view it seems a pity that the government should not have secured his services as the trainer of a corps of men to fill his place, than to see him risking his health and, as in Mexico of late, his life in various pursuits. The need of competent entomologists is daily becoming a more important question to the United States."

MORTUARY REPORT FOR PAST MONTH

Seventy-seven deaths is the number Honolulu. The middle-age mortality appears to have been higher than usual, the deaths from twenty to thirty having been 13, from thirty to forty 11 and from forty to fifty 14. There were 13 deaths of infants under one year, of which 7 were Hawailan, 4 Chinese, 2 Japanese and 1 Portuguese.

By nationalities the deaths were 33 Hawaiians, 13 Chinese, 19 Japanese, 7 Portuguese and 5 U. S. A.

The monthly death rate per thousand of population was 1.95. Marriages reported were 46, and births 62. There were six deaths investigated and the same number of coroner's inquests Two non-residents died here. Causes of death are grouped thus:

JAPANESE ARE GLAD TO GO BACK HOME AGAIN

There is no scene on the waterfront more interesting than the leavetaking of Japanese upon their departure for their native country. A crowd of 225 left on the Korea for Japan on Wednesday and the rush for a place on the steamer kept the first cabin passengers of the Korea entertained for an hour or more.

The Japs were bedecked with far more leis than the average married but neither of us has seen American passenger when he takes leave of his Hawaiian friends. But the Japanese doesn't throw the leis back on the wharf as the steamer sails. Ten to one, they have bought the flowers for themselves.

It was a motley crowd that left on the Korea Wednesday. Old men, and young women, nursing babies and romping children all made up the 225 Japs who took passage on the big Pacific Mail steam-But what each departing passenger carried took the eye more than anything else. Seemingly all were prepared to provide themselves with food for the entire voyage. The men and women, even those with babies strapped fast to their backs, were loaded down with bundles. Tied to the end of each, was a coffee pot, a rice boiler or a tea kettle. Some of them carried oil stoves as well. Nearly every man, woman and child dragged along a dozen or more bottles of soda pop. Some carried bananas in bunches. One man had a box of Japanese candy. Another was loaded down with a bulky load of dried fish. Others carried arm loads of canned goods. The majority of them carried at least one bottle of saki while one woman sneaked aboard with a big washpan under her arm. The majority of women carried one or more babies, decked in bright colored dresses, while tagging along at the tail of the husband's coat were children of all sizes and ages. And added to it all, most of the Japs were loaded down with was heard that the trial was just be- on Regatta Day, as their running beavy leis of many colored flowers.

It was a happy crowd for all that. The Immigration officers didn't pass the bunch until after four o'clock and there was a rush to get aboard, before the steamer sailed an hour and a half later. They were admitted to the naval wharf only upon showing their tickets, and so great was the rush, that finally the entrance gates were shut so that only one man and his bundles could get in at a time. At the steamer there was the same rush. The Japs were pushed up through the lower hatches. One section of the steerage was filled in short time, and the other hatch was opened. The gang plank to this was so steep that the passengers had to be helped up. And the top of the entrance was so low that every Jap had to duck his head to get in met all local comers, is beaked to meet without bumping. The men at the foot of the plank gave each Jap | Johnson, the heavy weight who was a shove towards the entrance, and just as he reached the open hatch once spoken of as an opponent for one of the steamer's crew caught his head and ducked it for him. THE MAJOR AND THE MUDHEN

The name of Major W. D. Crosby on the passenger list of the transport Thomas, set J. G. Pratt off on a hunting expedition yesterday afternoon. Mr. Pratt and the Major were boys together back in 1876 at school in Beloit, Wisconsin, Major or "Billy" Crosby, as he was then called, was generally astride of his hobby, natural history, and Pratt sometimes accompanied him as fidus Achates and general assistant. And thereby hangs a

Pratt was called in as assistant and a plan of campaign carefully worked out. Billy, then a "rusty faced youth with a nose like a horned owl supporting goggles." (this description given by Mr. Pratt may be biased) was well equipped for the hunt with a birch bark cance and a valuable gun. The birch bark canoe was comfortable for one but a load of two behoved caution. To shoot from it except under favorable conditions was a risky procedure. Therefore it was planned that Billy should paddle and Pratt hold the gun in readiness to pass it to Billy when the snipe was sighted. The load consisted of the smallest bird shot, so as to stun rather than kill the victim, but there was plenty of it and the gunpowder charge was generous.

Up the river above the dam, paddled the canoe with "Billy" at the prow peering through his spectacles for the prey and Pratt with the gun. Suddenly a feathered something came in sight and Pratt all eagerness, without waiting to pass the gun, fired. The Major's version of what followed is perhaps the more reliable.

"An old fat mud hen came placidly out from the bank and crossed in front of the canoe. "And having lost his glasses," says Pratt, "he couldn't see the shore and wam round like a blind turtle trying to find land. The gun was gone, the glasses gone and the canoe was waterlogged. I don't know about the mudhen, I thought it was a snipe, but Hilly was very indignant that I should have mistaken the hardest bird in the world way.

"The boys foshed us until school broke up about the trip and whenever Billy wanted his gun he made sarcastic remarks to me. He went into the service as surgeon soon after and then he each other for many years. He, like myself, is married with a family, but to me he is still 'Billy' Crosby and I suppose I am 'Mudhen Pratt' to him."

WOODS INSTITUTE OPENS ITS DOORS

The Woods Institute of Physical Culture, which occupies the second floor of the building on the corner of Queen and Fort streets, across from the Hackfeld building, held a successful opening last evening.

Professor Woods, himself a stalwart exponent of the advantages of his system, was on hand to show the guestic the arrangements. The place is very thoroughly fitted up and is on a pace with any public institution of similar character on the mainland.

The baths run down one side of a corridor at the rear of the main rooms with dressing rooms opposite. The tubs are porcelain and the fittings in accord with grated floorings and other complete paraphernalia. Other rooms are fitted for steam and dry heat with all the requisites of furnace, massage lounges, rubbing fluids and other puraphercalla. Mr. Woods announced that a lady masseuse and a masseur would be in attendance, classes being regulated to allow of days for ladies only.

The crowning glory of the establishment lies in the exercising room, To spacious chamber once, in days gone by, used by the Masonic orders. This has been redecorated and the floor covered with a stout canvas cloth. Along the sides are spaces for handball and the walls show trophies in the shape of fencing apparatus, boxing and handball gloves, medicine balls and punching bags.

The specialties of the institution will be in fencing, boxing and setting-up classes in the latter of which, conducted on modern principles, little paraphernalia is necessary.

The Hauman baths are calculated to restore to neglected, weakened or laded muscles and sinews, the degree of health that they should enjoy. The method promises normal weight for those who are suffering from adiposity

The steam bath promises to be much used by athletes after their efforts. Many promises of patronage have been made the institution. The office is nicely equipped with rugs, pictures and Measures Taken in the Soudan Prove Very Effective.

LONDON, Aug. 22.-Major Penton the principal medical officer of the Soudan, gives an interesting report of the results of Ross's measures for the prevention of malaria. Ismallia is now practically free of mosquitoes and nets may almost be dispensed with.

Two swamps northeast of the town and others on the south have been filled up with sand, while a third large marsh on the north has been well drained. Workmen are still filling up the pools and mowing the coarse undergrowth. At first they were worried in the evenings by the swarms of mosquitoes, but lately they have seen scarcely any.

Statistics in regard to the health of Ismailia show that from Jan. 1 to June to hit for a squattering old mudhen 30, 1903, was the healthlest period on without sense enough to get out of the record. There were only three cases of malaria in the hospitals, as compared with 52 in the corresponding period of 1902. While throughout Ismailia there were 569 cases from Jan. 1 to May 26, 1902, the average for the same period in 1903 was only 72. Many of these cases were probably relapses from pre-was as hot as an oven in there and I stayed outside. "Well, it is pretty het in here now," the court rejained, "No. At least I do not feel hot, but I would like to be excused."

"On what ground" was asked the juror. "Because I am an active newspaper

ONE PANEL EXHAUSTED

Talesmen Are Needed.

With the grand jury and three trial jury panels of twenty-six men each, between 400 and 500 cases on the calen-dar, about four score defendants in criminal cases appealed or held over and a large array of lawyers, together with witnesses and spectators, in at-tendance it may be imagined there was a jam of humanity upstairs in the Judiciary building at the opening for actual business of the September term of the Circuit Court of the First Judicial Circuit yesterday morning.

First, Second and Third Judges De Bolt, Gear and Robinson, respectively, sat on the bench in the Supreme Court com, as the largest one, for the opening preliminaries.

The jury rolls were called and every panel was diminished through excuses granted until barely working strength was left to any of them. Indeed, as will be seen further along, the first attempt to empanel a trial jury proved a failure for lack of men after three or four challenges.

JURORS EXCUSED.

Judge Gear, presiding at the term, since the time when the earliest Ha-walian barbers were probably looked W. Booth until Monday next, J. C. upon as tonsorial artists, and perhaps. Wells, H. S. Judge Robinson is left with only seventeen men on his panel. James En-Markham, J. O. Lutted, A. F. Franca, John H. Taylor, E. B. Mikalemi and John De Fries were excused for the term, the last three on account of Government employment.

HOURS APPOINTED.

Judge De Bolt stated the hours at ing an order covering his oral statement as follows:

"Until otherwise ordered, the First Judge of this court will hear ex parte motions and other short matters each morning from 9 to 9:30 o'clock, upon previous arrangement therefor.

"The jury will be excused at 4 p. m. cach Friday until 9:39 a. m., Monday following, except when it is said Judge's week at chambers, when the jury will be excused until 9:30 a. m.,

"On Saturdays, from 9 a. m. to 12 m., motions, demurrers and other matters, not requiring a jury, will be heard. "The calendar will be called from time to time as occasion requires. which calling counsel will be notified through the press and otherwise."

Judge Gear stated that the hours of his sessions would be from 10 to 12 a, m. and 1:30 or 2 to 4 p. m. He jokingly referred to Judge De Bolt as "an early riser." Judge Robinson announced his hours the same as those of Judge Gear.

The grand jury and Judge Gear's trial jurors were excused until 10 o'clock this morning.

WORK BEGINS.

Judge De Bolt ordered his panel to ppear at 1:30 the same afternoon. At that hour he called Luika Kilinane vs. H. R. Macfarlane et al., ejectment. Plaintiff was not ready to go on with the trial and the court ordered the complaint dismissed. for plaintiff noted an exception.

SWARMING TO SCHOOL

His claim was for $3000 damages.

An Unprecedented Crush of Applicants for Admission.

Never before has there been so large in attendance at the public schools of Honolulu, on the first two days of a term, as the incomplete returns of the present opening show. Where exact figures have not reached the Education office, reports of children turned away for want of room have been received instead.

At Kaahumanu school (Beretania street) there were 606 pupils in attendance yesterday morning, with more right could not be found for service to than a hundred applicants for admisappear. A. K. Ozawa and John Enos sion besides. No effort to accommowere excused until the 21st inst. John date these will be spared. There are twelve rooms in the main building, with desks for forty pupils to a room, which gives normal accommodation for 480, and there is a cottage on the grounds in which sixty may be comfortably placed. Thus, with the numwhich he would hold court, later issu- ber already admitted, the ordinary capacity of the school is seen to be overtaxed by sixty-six pupils.

Figures have not been sent in from the High School, but Professor Scott says the attendance is larger than ever before and not all of the applicants for admission can be accommodated.

Kaakopua, the primary of the High school group, was crowded yesterday, pupils being refused all day. Kaiulani school at Palama had an attendance of 585 pupils.

The Royal school, from which re-ports are lacking, is housed in a tem-porary building of six rooms, con-structed of the material of the Aala warehouse where it lately kept, and in old cottages containing eight schoolrooms. It is presumed that this time-honored institution will not contain all the children seeking entrance to 't. There is a loan appropriation of $40,000 for a new Royal school house, but when the money will be available depends entirely upon the floating of the Teritorial bonds.

Besides the unprecedented swarming to school which has already taken place, large accessions are expected within the first few weeks of children returning tardily from visits to friends on the other Islands.

The condition of crowding the schools described here partially is a marvel to the educational authorities, after all that has been published about the exodus from the Territory of Portuguese and working people generally. They cannot believe that the juvenile population, at all events, is decreas-

Purifying the Bar.

The permanent disbarment of Attorneys Humphreys and Davis and the suspension of Attorney Thompson came as a surprise to most of the community; but disloyalty to clients and blackmail are not to be winked at, and the court has done a great and lasting service not only to the bar, but as well to every man under its jurisdiction by declaring with no uncertain voice that the bar shall be as true and as just as justice demands that the bench shall be.—The Friend.

Supreme Court Memorial Was Again Up for Discussion.

There was a meeting last evening of the Bar Association to consider the the memorial asking an increase in the number of Supreme Court Justices, but action. The memorial will be given final consideration at a meeting to be held Friday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock in the Castle & Cooke hall.

A new memorial drafted by E. B. McClanahan was read. It was briefer and somewhat different from the one ond that lack of unanimity in the decisions of the Supreme Court for two years last past brought criticism upon the court. Some of the decisions it was set out, were practically, onejudge decisions.

Mr. Lewis suggested that there might be added the fact that the Supreme Court here had appellate jurisdiction over the tax appeal and land courts and also had to consider agreed statements of facts and settle differences between departments.

Mr. Rawlins said that emphasis should be laid upon the fact that the work of the outside circuits was also X. In Cologne, one of the most imincreasing very much.

Mr. Smith calling attention to the objection of Mr. Robertson to the memorial, that there were weightier matters to be asked of Congress, said that if amendments were begun to the Organle Act it might open the way to They base their fears on the latest diother amendments which were not wanted. He said that in the past, the late rugged patriarch of Venice during the changes of government, the Judiciary had always been the mainstay and the dependence of the coun-With changed conditions it was just as important that political stability and of property rights be maintained. Another objection had been made by Mr. Magoon, who thought that the bar might have to put up with undesirable men. He said that he favored taking chances, and there was more chance in getting good men, with five to pick from than with three. Mr. Vivas said he had heard objection to the memorial from men who said that Congress didn't like fixed place friends in office. Mr. Smith replied that Congress wanted just such amendments provided as a working basis, and did not think that it would be considered a "job."

There was some discussion also of

We shall continue to breathe air, drink water and eat bread. There will be no "improvement" on the great essentials of living, and we do not want any. Babies will come into the world as they have from the beginning, and people will die out of it as they have done since the world began. This effective remedy belongs to the past, the present and the future. It is not only up-to-date but ahead of date. For Wasting Diseases, Impaired Nutrition, Influenza, Lung Troubles, Impure Humors in the blood with resulting skin affections, etc., it possesses the confidence of physicians and the people everywhere. It is not expected to fail; it never does fail. The formula after which it is made is an inspiration. It contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. It is palatable as honey, and yet so medicinal as to be effective from the first dose. Professor Reddy, of Canada, says: "I have much pleasure in stating that I have used it in cases of debility and have found it to be a very valuable remedy as well as pleasing to take." "It cannot disappoint." Sold by chemists.

MOTHER AND CHILD GEAR CHARGES

Scott's Emulsion is cod liver oil made almost as palatable as milk. It is easy and soothing to the weak stomach; it checks the tendencies of children toward thinness.

Scott's Emulsion gives strength to weak mothers because it creates healthy flesh and new blood.

Nursing mothers will find a special value in Scott's a flow of rich, nourishing milk for the baby. More and better than a medicine; Scott's Emulsion is a food.

Scott's. Emulsion is not a mere extract, containing imaginary "active principles" which do not exist, but is full of actual nourishment which sustains vital force and builds up the body tissues more rapidly than any other known remedy.

THE POPE MAY LEAVE ROME

pale, haggard and a prey to melancholy. These reports, current in German Catholic circles, receive significant corroboration in the latest dispatches from Rome. They say that Pius X. weeps constantly in his room, even before people, and declares that he can only be made happy by returning to Venice, or, at least, to Venetla. The cause of all this and of the pope's indisposition is the heavy burden of the pontificate which has been forced upon him.

Since the coronation his holiness has been overfatigued and alling. Dr. amendments thrown at them, and that it would look like a job-an attempt to but his illness causes alarm and it is reported that his holiness has had several attacks.

Evidently confinement in the vatican is prejudicial to the health of Pius X., who has been accustomed to the free air of the lagoons, where he was often seen in a gondola.

It is commented upon here that the most important diplomatic news emerging above the horizon is the anticipated spectacle of Pope Pius X, leaving the vatican for some environment less hazardous to his bodily and mental health.

THE GRAND JURY

The grand jury was charged by Judge Gear yesterday afternoon. Sam Parker was appointed foreman and L. Kennedy bailiff. Gear omitted menion of all matters which have been aired lately and gave only general instructions. Among other things he snid:

"It is not the duty of a grand fury to go into private grievances and mere rumors. You are not to allow private Emulsion because it insures parties and attorneys to come before you with complaints. Such parties are usually actuated by malice and anxious to satisfy private revenge. The proper place to take such complaint is to the attorney general, or to the district magistrate. When neither the ourt nor the attorney general presents a matter and when no warrant is sworn to by an aggrieved party, !t may safely be inferred that public justice wil suffer no injury if the matter is ignored.

"The court knows of no special circumstances to be called to your attention at present. You are an inquisitorial body and have a right to in quire into public offices and institutions, though I understand that there is some question in the mind of the attorney general about that. If there are any special matters the attorney general will bring them before you annot private parties. The statement has been made in the press that certain persons want an investigation of some alleged rights which they claim have been violated. I don't know how far this is a public bluff, but it is not proper for persons to air their grievances in that way. The proper way is through a district magistrate if there has been any violation of law."

Colossi of the woods, the burthened The marts that teem with corn and oil

The pride of native Californians in their State rests upon something more than the custom which makes a mar respect his birthplace, wherever and whatever it may be. California is so whatever it may be. California is so great and varied and has such a noble future, that the love of its children is the sign of an honest conception of real worth. The State is a greater France for fertility, a better Riviera for climate, a coming New York for com-merce and industry, a past Golconda for metallic richness, a veritable empire in size and sweep of coast. To be born on its soil is a badge of distinction; to leaves its confines is to Incur a restlessness and regret which only a return to it can cure. Once the water resources of Califor-nia are conserved and distributed, the State can sustain life in 40,000,000 of people and support at least 20,000,000 in American comfort. Many ancient and modern empires could not do that. Steadily the population of California is rising; rapidly its commerce is increasing, and long before the State has reached its centenary it will compare with some of the richer monarchies of the present day in the magnitude and abundance of its resources and in the swarm of its inhabitants.

Considering what has come of it, Adission Day, which has just been celebrated, deserves not only the respect which Californians pay it but a far wider acceptance. The nation owes to the possession of California the ability, during the strain of the Civil War to support the government's credit with gold. Admission day, therefore, has a very definite meaning to the United

President Roosevelt had a narrow esfortunate in the presence of a guard of secret service men. It is becoming more and more necessary to surround the executive with an armed escort. Such a thing is repugnant to the old American feeling that the chief magistrate of a free democracy is safe in the midst of his fellow citizens. At one time he was safe, but that was when the Anglo-Saxon had the right of way. A low foreign element has since been introduced into American citizenship and it has had its issue in Guiteau, Czolgosz and now in Weithrenner. Witness these names as evidence of the source of America's chief peril and of the need of surrounding the President with an armed body guard.

THE DEVIL AND THE GIRLS.

Man's Quill. The following article is taken from the Emporia (Kansas) Gazette, and while it was intended as a rebuke to evil practices in that city, it is so applicable to conditions in many places that it is worthy of more than passing notice. The Gazette says: "The mothers of this town have had a lesson-but it does not seem to have done them any good. There are just as many girls gadding around town getting their mail from private boxes in the postoffice as there were. Two years ago the Gazette went after the mothers for neglecting their daughters and the result was that a half dozen private mail boxes were discontinued and a lot of little girls who were in the habit of gadding too much were kept in for a time. These girls are now developing into fine young women but another crop of gadding girls has come on and the Gazette hopes that no one's modesty will be shocked by saying that these little hussies ought to be spanked good and red. If their mothers knew the type of boys and young men-young human pups-these girls are running with their mothers would throw fits. But their mothers know nothing of the situation. They think that their little girls are so Sweet and Pure that nothing can harm them. The truth is these children are made of the same kind of mud that we all are made of and they are just as tue of the power of sale contained in liable to temptation as older people and a thousand times less experienced. And their mothers let them gad the W. G. Irwin, J. A. Cummins and W. streets and flirt with all kinds of men D. Alexander, Trustees for the Oahu and then their mothers wonder how

> "There are just two things that will in keep girls straight at 'that age,' one is plain clothes and the other is home du-tles. The girls who make fools of themselves are invariably over dressed. They wear duds that women of should hesitate about wearing. A lit-tle girl with too many and too costly you grown up women know the next A simple, pure hearted girl who step. Even when maturity comes and a real man comes and a real affair of her heart comes will such a girl leave home and then with heart aches and heart rending.
> "But a girl whose place in the hom is at the table and in bed, won't love that home. Work makes things sathat home. Work makes things sa-cred. The child whose home memories are not hallowed by work who is not needed and does not feel the need, will not love home. And if she doesn't will not love home. And if she doesn't love the home of her girlhood she will love no other. She will go anywhere for anything. Home will mean nothing for such a woman and if she is respectable she will only lack the opportunity to be a bad woman and is good only through circumstances or by the necessity of an ugly face. She will curse the man she marries. The mothers of this town who are responsible for the girls who gad the streets should stop and think what they are doing. These girls are no longer children. They are at the impres-age. Where will you have the impressions come from-from the riff raff of the streets or from home?
